CITIZENS AGAINST NUCLEAR WAR CONFERENCE

Citizens against Nuclear War (CAN) is a coalition of over sixty national membership organizations, including ALA and fourteen organizations representing people of color. CAN sponsored a conference in Washington, D.C., June 6-8, on "The Nuclear Arms Race: Survival Dilemma for People of Color." I attended as SRRT's representative. The sessions were held in the NEA building learned here of the Grassroots Peace Directory project, which is issuing, for each state, printed directories of groups working in the areas of peace, disarmament, and international security. Their phone is (203) 928-2616.

The general reaction was that the meeting was informative and thought-provoking, and that CAN had made a significant effort to confront the obstacles which have kept peace groups

The keynote speaker Friday evening, Rev. Ben Chavis of the United Church of Christ, issued a rousing call to action, asserting that peace is not the absence of war but the presence of justice.

more effectively. CAN will be putting together a highlights report.
